Better Railroad Facilities For Community Discussed With Officials Of The Seaboard

The possibility of this community's getting better railroad facilities is being widely discussed since the visit here of Messrs. James, Cheatham and Darden, prominent officials of the Seaboard Air Line, on last Wednesday morning.

The officials in question came here for the purpose of discussing the plans and location for the new brick passenger station at Roanoke Junction. A committee of five business men, represented the newly organized Board of Trade, and other prominent business men of the town met the Seaboard officials at Roanoke Junction and discussed the matter of plans and locations. After discussing the matter for some time, on the suggestion of Mr. Job Taylor, a proposition was laid before the officials of the Seaboard, asking them to relocate their main line between Rosemary and Roanoke Rapids and build a passenger station between the towns where it would be accessible to the entire community.

After some discussion, the officials agreed to send a corps of engineers here to look over the proposition with a view of laying out the line.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Roanoke Rapids Graded School, Friday Night, May 1, People's Theatre

The most successful commencement in the history of the Roanoke Rapids Graded School was that given in the Peoples Theatre on last Friday night.

The capacity of the house was taxed to the utmost, fully twice as many people, it is estimated, being turned away as were seated in the building. Due in part to an error of the management and partly to the fact that the orders of the management were not strictly carried out, there was some dissatisfaction in regard to the way the seating arrangements were handled.

The seats were placed with Hancock-House Company for advance distribution about two o'clock Friday afternoon, with instructions that the tickets be given to men only and only two tickets to each man. We understand these instructions were not carried out. At any rate before seven o'clock all of the seats had been taken and many people in Roanoke Rapids and a much greater number from Rosemary were unable to see the commencement exercises. The management had expected no such rush for the seats as was made; in fact, they expected that fully three fourths of the tickets would be handed out at the ticket office just before the commencement started.

The commencement exercises were good from start to finish of the programme. The singing was excellent—Miss Alice Hockaday's renditions of her part being fully equal to professional singing. The History of the Class of 1914 by Miss Lucy Barrette was excellently gotten up and delivered well. Mr. Holland Brantley's recitation of the Oration of Spartacus to the Gladiators was rendered with ability. Probably the most enjoyable feature of the occasion was the Last Will and Testament of the Class by Miss Virginia Hart. At any rate it caused more merriment. Both Miss Virginia's wit and pen are trenchant and her victims writhed under her thrusts. The audience was in a gale of laughter during the entire reading of the will: that is, those members of the audience who were not at that time under discussion.

One of the features of the evening was the address of Dr. A. S. Harrison, of Enfield, County Superintendent of Education. Dr. Harrison was introduced by Mr. R. L. Towe, who made a few brief remarks about the progress of education in other sections of the State. Dr. Harrison's address was very entertaining. He referred to the time of his first visit to Roanoke Rapids when the school at Roanoke Rapids was known to the County Board as Weldon No. 2 White. His address was a plea for better wider and education. He spoke very highly of the work done by Superintendent Akers and the Roanoke Rapids school faculty and made an ardent plea for the bond issue.

It is certainly to be hoped that by the time the Commencement of the Class of 1915 rolls around the new auditorium will be ready. We need an auditorium that will seat at least eight hundred, and now that the people have voted the bond issue they are entitled to it.

BETTER SCHOOLS WIN THE DAY

Bond Issue Elections Carried By Overwhelming Majority

The election held on Tuesday, May 5th, for the purpose of deciding the question of whether or not bonds of the Roanoke Rapids School District in the sum of twenty thousand dollars should be issued, was carried by an overwhelming majority.

The people of this community have again demonstrated the progressive sentiments held by the great majority. The vote for the bonds was about on the ratio of eleven to one and this ratio would be still greater but for the fact that the news of the carrying of the bond issue was circulated widely before noon Tuesday and a good many people who would have voted for the bonds if there had been the slightest danger of their not being carried, did not go to the polls at all.

We cannot state at this writing just how long it will be before the bonds can be sold and the work on the buildings started. The Board of School Trustees are going to do everything possible to expedite matters and it is hoped that actual work on the new buildings may be commenced early in the summer.

The carrying of this bond issue means a great deal to this community. It means that the opportunities of the children of this district along educational lines will be second to none in the State. It means another and a decided advance for this community and the size of the majority shows the sort of stuff the community is made of.

Board of Trade Organized For Rosemary and Roanoke Rapids

At a meeting of the business men of Roanoke Rapids and Rosemary held in the Mayor's Office in Roanoke Rapids on last Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock, a temporary organization of a Board of Trade for Rosemary and Roanoke Rapids was effected.

J. T. Chase was elected President, W. F. Horner, Vice President, R. L. Towe, Secretary and Treasurer. J. L. Patterson, J. B. Boyd, J. W. House, L. G. Shell and Dr. T. W. M. Long were elected Directors and E. H. Ricks, W. E. Byrne and M. M. Faison, were elected members of the Social Committee.

The President, Vice President and Chairman of the Board of Directors, (who is yet to be elected) were elected as a committee of three to select a name for the organization and draw up a set of by-laws to be presented for adoption at a meeting of the organization to be held in the Mayor's Office in Roanoke Rapids on next Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock.

The meeting was a very successful one indeed. Many expressions of opinion in regard to the advisability of organizing a Board of Trade were made by different individuals, the general consensus of opinion being that such an organization would be very advantageous for the community as a whole. The attendance at the meeting was large; twenty six business men from the towns being present. The Board of Trade is certainly much nearer an accomplished fact now than at any time in the past.

If the individuals members of the organization can be induced to work together harmoniously and unselfishly, every man putting forth his best efforts for the success of the organization and upbuilding of the community untold good will result. In an organization of this nature there should be no sectional prejudices, no petty jealousy and no aspiration on the part of any individual member to control the workings of the organization. It should be a democracy of business men all working together for one common object. It is only along these lines that progress can be made.

The Board of Trade has made a good start—as one member expressed it: "It must learn to crawl before attempting to walk." Its future rests on the energy, community spirit and unselfishness of its members. We hope and predict for it a successful and useful existence.
